NO PAVING ON PERKINS STREET

City Council Turns Down Petition for the Improvement Circulated by Charles Alger.

SEVERAL REASONS ARE GIVEN

Fear That Squabble Would be Started by Many Remonstrants Who Attended Meeting.

Another chapter has been written in the paving history of Rushville and Perkins street will not be paved—at the present time at least. The city council at its meeting last night turned down the petition circulated by Charles Alger and signed by ten other citizens having property abutting on Perkins street. The petition asked that the street be paved with brick for its full length.

There was a storm of protest at the council meeting last night. The remonstrators had the petitioners outnumbered about two to one, and when the vote was taken on the petition, Councilman Samuel Young and Frank Mull voted for the granting of the petition and Reynolds, Kelly and Havens voted against the prayer of the petition. And there were sighs of relief from the remonstrants.

The law does not require that a majority of the property owners sign the petition, but leaves considerable lee-way for the city council, in cases where the pavement is to be paid for by the property owners. The opinion of the majority of the councilmen seemed to be that if they granted the petition the remonstrants would appeal to the circuit court for a restraining order and involve the city in a legal squabble. Another thing which seemed to have some effect in the vote was the fact that the present council has about completed its term and that anything which would be as long drawn out as this should be handled entirely by one council.

And now both sides are talking and telling how it happened; why it should have been done and why it should not have been done. Meanwhile Rushville will continue without paved streets.

This was the principal business at the council meeting last evening and the only other business of importance was the granting of several claims.

Speeches will be made by Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall and by Claude Cambern. The Diapason Singers under the direction of John A. Spurrier will furnish music for the occasion.

THE WEATHER

VIEWS OF GIRLS' SCHOOL

Representative of Elmhurst Leaves Copies of Prospectus Here.

Miss Isabel B. Cressler of the Elmhurst School for Girls, which will open at Connersville September 29, was here yesterday and left copies of the prospectus for the new school. Miss Cressler is much encouraged over the prospects for the new school and says at least two students will be enrolled from as far East as New York City. The prospectus shows several beautiful views taken on the new school grounds. The school is attracting considerable attention here.

NEW CASTLE FOLKS COMING TO FAIR

They Want to See Nassr in His Airship and the Other Good Attractions.

GOOD WORD FROM NEIGHBORS

Next week the Rush county fair will be on the boards, says the New Castle Courier. This fair, always good, will surpass all previous records in the extent and variety of exhibits. Among the many attractions will be Capt. A. M. Nassr and his dirigible airship. He will make ascensions on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Henry county has always patronized the Rush county fair liberally, and this year, with more to enjoy, should be no exception.

COUNTY AUDITORS TO HAVE SESSION

Jesse M. Stone Will Hear Discussion of the New Uniform System of Accounts.

ATTENTION TO SCHOOL FUNDS

Jesse M. Stone is planning to attend the meeting of county auditors to be held in Indianapolis next week. The auditors will take up several questions pertaining to the operation of the new uniform system of accounts and the payment of school fund loans.

Attorney General Bingham decided recently that school fund loans when five years old must be paid off or renewed. It has been the custom that so long as the borrower paid the interest on the loan no renewal has been made. The attorney general will address the meeting.

The members of the State Board of Accounts, with State Auditor Billheimer and his deputy, John E. Reed, will address the meeting also. The sessions will be held next Wednesday and Thursday.

SAYS BULL COST MORE THAN $90

Mrs. A. P. Walker Declares Story From New Castle About Golden Jolly is Ridiculous.

EXPRESSED IN FOUR FIGURES

Mr. Walker Knew What he Was Buying and Animal Was Not Unmanageable.

Mrs. A. P. Walker, in the absence of her husband, emphatically denies the story printed by the New Castle Courier to the effect that Mr. Walker paid only $90 for the $11,000 bull, Golden Jolly, which died at Cincinnati a few days ago. Mrs. Walker says the sum paid was expressed in four figures and that Mr. Walker knew exactly what he was buying when he made the purchase. She also says the bull was one of the easiest to manage they ever had.

W. K. Schoeff, the man who purchased Golden Jolly knew exactly what Mr. Walker paid and knew what he was buying, according to Mrs. Walker. She says the rumor printed in the New Castle paper is an old one and is without foundation.

The Courier says in a special from Rushville:

There is quite an interesting story in connection with the death of the $11,000 bull sold at the Percy Walker sale here last fall to W. Kelsey Schoeff, the Ohio traction magnate. The Rush county cattle man goes to the Isle of Jersey regularly each year and it was while on one of these trips that he saw and admired the bull and negotiated for its purchase.

In the Isle of Jersey there is a law protecting cattle. When any animal becomes unmanageable for any reason it is immediately killed, to prevent its injuring other cattle with which it may be running. This was the case with the $11,000 bull. His keepers lost control of him, and although a pedigreed animal, he was on his way to the slaughter pen when first seen by Walker. It took some time and quite a little effort to arrange the purchase. Walker knew that the law would be complied with and he was sure that he and his men could handle the bull. Consequently the sale was made for $90.

The bull and his pedigree subsequently reached America and finally arrived in Rush county. There he was seen and admired by thousands. His pedigree showed him to be one of the purest Jersey bred animals in the country. His valuation increased until the day of his sale when Schoeff bid practically $11,000 for him. It was the highest price ever paid for a bull in this or any other country. He was a beauty and his pedigree is said to have been large enough to make a good-sized circus tent.

* * * * * TRIM YOUR TREES IF THEY HANG LOW * * * * *

Have you some trees on your curb lawn whose limbs drop down so low that they drag people's hats off as they pass, or are compelled to lower their umbrellas in order to pass under the boughs? If you have trim them at the earliest opportunity, and improve your surroundings. Nothing is so unsightly as to see limbs hanging down almost to the sidewalk from your shade trees.

AIR SHIP CAME THIS MORNING

Air Craft Arrived Today From Toledo and Will be Moved to the Fair Grounds.

FAIR TO BE RECORD BREAKER

Class and Number of Amusements Offered This Year Excel That of Any Previous Year.

Every indication points to the fact that the fifty-third annual Rush county fair will be the best held in recent years. All of the exhibits, the races and the shows promise to be larger and better than ever. The free attraction, daily flights by Nassr's airship, will probably draw the largest crowd ever assembled on the local fair ground. The airship arrived here this morning.

The daily flights of the airship is the best and highest priced free attraction ever obtained for the local fair, and is also by far the best free attraction offered by any county fair in the State this year. The thing alone is expected to draw many thousand people here, not only from this county, but also from surrounding cities and counties. Nassr will make daily flights from the fair ground, and his contract calls for him to sail around the court house tower. The ship will be covered by a tent and Prof. Nassr will give lectures on the construction and the manipulation of the immense air craft while in flight.

Another attraction, which has just been obtained, is the Indianapolis News' News Boys band, which will play at the local fair on Friday. The band is composed of fifty pieces and is recognized as one of the best musical organizations of its kind in the State. They will be on the fair grounds all day Friday. The local band has been hired to play on the other days.

The directors of the fair say that the show of live stock this year will eclipse anything ever seen here before. Already entries have been made for five immense herds of cattle, three of which will be the famous short-horn breed. Also two herds of Poll Angus are expected to be brought here for exhibition. Five droves of hogs have been entered in the exhibits and many more are expected the latter part of this week. Over one hundred stalls have been engaged for show stuff and this number is unusually large for so early in the week. The stalls are not generally engaged until the latter part of the week before or the first of fair week. It will be impossible to get the full benefits of the fair unless all day is spent on the grounds, as the parade of show stuff will be made in front of the grand stand every morning.

The races this year will in all probability be more closely contested than they have in former years, on account of the large number of horses which will be entered. Secretary King expects to draw most of the horses which are racing at the Greensburg and Muncie fairs this week, and also has ten or twelve other fast ones which will be here that are not entered at any of the fairs this week. The order of the races this year will be about the same as in previous years, with the exception that an extra event will be placed on the program Thursday. This will be a free-for-all pace, half mile heats, and one horse having to win three heats in order to take first money. This is put on to attract fast young horses, whose owners do not want to mark them. The young horses can go a half mile in good time and not be able to stand a mile

Many people from this city are planning to go to Cincinnati tomorrow to witness Pain's "Battle in the Clouds" which is being given there under the management of Charles Virgil Tevis, son of Dr. V. W. Tevis of this city, and George Randolph Chester, a well known magazine writer. The spectacle is attracting mammoth crowds and is causing more comment than anything given in Cincinnati in years. A special train for this attraction will go to Cincinnati over the C. H. & D. Thursday morning and will hold until the crowds get back from the "Battle in the Clouds."

The total distance of 24½ miles was traveled over in one hour and forty minutes and all of his mail delivered. REUNIONS WERE ORDER OF THE DAY

Blacklidge-Newhouse and Norris Families Assemble on the Fair Grounds Today.

DINNER WAS A BIG FEATURE

Business Meeting, Social Sessions and a Ball Game Were in the Afternoon Program.

Reunions were the order of things at the fair grounds today and anyone who has a family and ashamed of it had no place out there, because family and ancestors were the sole topics. All business cares were thrown aside and household cares cast to the four winds for they were there to enjoy themselves and that they did.

Three families were represented, Norris, Blacklidge and Newhouse, and there was a good representation of each family present. It is the custom of the Blacklidge and Newhouse families to hold their reunion together, as they are closely related, while the Norris gathering was held separate from them.

Over one hundred descendants of the Blacklidge and Newhouse families sat down to the dinner table in the large dining hall in the western part of the grounds. As is generally the case enough for three times the number was prepared by the famed cooks and such a bountiful repast was never spread before a king. Fried chicken was the most predominate thing on the table and it seems that the chicken family in general over Rush county surely suffered a great massacre in order to fill the table with such an elaborate spread.

But the dinner was only a part of the program—perhaps the most important part, however. During the afternoon a short business session was held when new officers for the coming year were elected and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Walter Newhouse.

This is the fourteenth reunion held by the Newhouse and Blacklidge families and each year finds several familiar faces out of the ranks. The crowd this year was not quite so large as it has been in previous years, but the different branches of the family were all present. After a short business session the remainder of the day was spent in social pastimes and visiting with relatives. Those from a distance who were present were Ex-Senator Marshall Newhouse and family of Decatur county; Miss Myrtle Goodykoontz of Cannon City, Col.; and H. J. Blacklidge, John M. Blacklidge, O. H. Blacklidge, James Forkner, and Mrs. Ella Blacklidge and Mrs. Amanda Dillon of Anderson.

The dinner for the Norris reunion was spread in the dining hall on the east part of the grounds. About one hundred sat down there to an elaborate repast. Fried chicken was here also the ruler of the table, and they also had other delicacies, including ice cream, watermelon, lemonade and other things.

This is only the second reunion of the Norris family and to have so many present was a source of pleasure to them and they hope to double that number next year. After dinner a short business session was held and officers elected for the ensuing year. Secretary Mrs. Jacob Parrish read the minutes of the last meeting.

After the business meeting a short social program was held and several speeches were made and musical numbers rendered. Mrs. Homer Bell of Huntington, W. V., gave several readings and also gave several vocal solos. Miss Effie Coleman, formerly teacher in the Philippines, but now

NEW YORK GIVES CREDENCE TO IT

Report That Harriman Has the New York Central.

LINE FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

If This Rumor Be True, the Little Wizard of American Railways Will Have Realized His Ambition—While Wall Street Credits the Rumor, Nothing Official Has Been Given Out—It Is Known, However, That the Harriman Influence Has Been Causing a Rattling of Dry Bones Among the Vanderbilt Figureheads.

New York, Aug. 18.—According to reports widely current on the stock exchange, arrangements have been perfected whereby E. H. Harriman will exercise as soon as he returns from Europe on Aug. 26 an option he holds on all the Vanderbilt holdings of stock in the New York Central railroad.

According to this report Harriman obtained this option, involving about $50,000,000 worth of stock—par value—at the time he was elected to the directorship in the New York Central last spring and that the price he is to pay is $150 a share.

This would make the amount to pass from Harriman to the Vanderbilts for New York Central control about $75,000,000. The deal, if perfected, would give Harriman practically an ocean-to-ocean route by way of the New York Central, Chicago & Northwestern and Union and Southern Pacific and also a Chicago connection for the gulf with the New York Central by way of the Illinois Central. Among the brokers and financiers generally the story that Harriman is soon to take actual control of the New York Central from the Vanderbilt family is credited, and there are indications that the announcement is near at hand.

Some statement this week may clear the small amount of mystery that remains. It is well known that Harriman has been buying New York Central with the millions released from the sale by Union Pacific of its treasury assets. The only thing in doubt is the price at which he takes over the Vanderbilt holdings.

When Harriman took this option the Vanderbilts were pledged to secrecy, but that was unnecessary, for the Vanderbilts have always kept every thing secret. Harriman's management has been making itself felt in Central for several months, for when he entered the board of directors he began rattling the dry bones. He has not been able yet to resurrect all departments of the road, because many Vanderbilt figureheads were protected until such time as the Union Pacific officials take over the property. Senator Chauncey M. Depew is one of the New York Central directors who will shortly resign from the board to make room for a Harriman man. Miles of red tape will be chopped out of the system and miles of paying track substituted for it.

TRAINMEN ARRESTED

Deadly Wreck Declared to Be Due to Criminal Negligence.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 18.—The coroner's jury investigating Saturday's collision on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad at Husted, Col., in which ten people were killed and sixty injured, decided the wreck was due to criminal negligence. The verdict blames the train crew, composed of Engineers Lessing and Hollingsworth, Fireman Wright, Conductor Dalton and Brakeman McIlhenn. An order was sent to Denver to arrest the trainmen.

Considered Himself a Martyr.
London, Aug. 18.—Mader Dhingra, the young Indian student who shot and killed Sir Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Lalaca in a spectacular manner and during a public reception at the Imperial Institute on July 1, was hanged in Pentonville prison Tuesday. Dhingra, whose mind had been inflamed by revolutionary literature, considered himself a martyr to the cause of freeing India from the English yoke.

BULLETS FIRED INTO FOREIGNERS' HOUSES

Homes of Imported Laborers at Howell Bombarded.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 18.—An attack made at Howell by unknown persons on the houses occupied by ten families of Austrians who had been brought here to do a special line of work for the Wisconsin Chair company is being investigated by Sheriff Barnes and deputies. Several shots were fired into the houses and, though none of the occupants was injured, all were badly frightened and ran from the houses and called for protection. Five bullets went through the weather boarding and fell on the floor near the sleepers and the front door of one of the houses was riddled with bullets.

Sheriff Barnes believes there is a prejudice against the men because they are foreigners. D. H. Drury, manager of the Wisconsin Chair company, says the men were brought here because others could not be obtained to do a certain line of skilled work. The foreigners work in the sanding room. The houses occupied by them are now being guarded at night and deputy sheriffs will remain there for several nights.

New Move in Thaw Case.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Harry K. Thaw was taken from the county jail here today back to Matteawan. The Thaw family, it is understood will make an attempt now to have Thaw released from Matteawan and committed to the custody of his relatives. They will agree never to let him out unless accompanied by a member of the family or a special attendant.

Let Held to Answer.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 18.—Argyll Lett, a printer formerly of this city and Terre Haute, must answer in the circuit court of Henderson county, Kentucky, for having shot and killed Durwood Denton last Friday afternoon, according to Judge Hart's finding in the preliminary hearing at Henderson.

NIGHT MARSHAL KILLS BURGLAR

Postoffice Thieves Surprised at Summer.

ONE SHOT IN THE FOREHEAD

Startled by an Explosion in the Postoffice, the Night Marshal Investigated and Found Cracksmen at Work—He Immediately Opened Fire and One of the Yeggs Fell Dead, the Other Two Making Good Their Getaway—Pass Book in Pocket of Dead Burglar Carried the Name of John Mitchell.

Summer, Ill., Aug. 18.—The night watchman of the town killed a burglar supposed to be named John Mitchell. Two other burglars escaped.

Marshal Skaggs, about 1 o'clock a. m., saw three men in the postoffice. Before he could enter the place there was a heavy explosion which wrecked the safe. The marshal, as soon as he obtained a glimpse of the men after the explosion, opened fire on the burglars. The latter ran, firing on the marshal as they fled, and finally disappeared.

Soon after daylight the body of one of the burglars was found in an alley, about a hundred yards from the postoffice. A bullet hole was in his forehead. He had probably lived only a few minutes after being shot. At the side of the body was a large 38-calibre revolver. A pass book in the pocket of the dead man bore the name of John Mitchell. The man was about fifty-five years old, and was fairly well dressed.

About $60 in money and a number of stamps were in the safe, but the robbers obtained nothing.

Another Postoffice Robbery.

Marion, Ind., Aug. 18.—The Van Buren postoffice was robbed of $150 in stamps and $17 in money. The robbers escaped by taking a horse and buggy belonging to Richard Brewer of Van Buren. After the thieves had driven to within a mile of this city, the vehicle was driven into a corn field and abandoned.

LONG SEARCH ENDED

After Thirty-Seven Years Frank Lintz Finds His Daughter.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., Aug. 18.—A thirty-seven years' search for a lost daughter was ended when Mrs. George E. Maxwell of Woodland, Yola county, California, arrived in this city for a visit with her father, Frank Lintz. In 1873 Mr. Lintz and his first wife lived in Evansville. At that time he was superintending government work in the Ohio river below Louisville. He usually went up the river each Monday morning and returned to his home on Saturday evening.

One Saturday night when Mr. Lintz returned home he was surprised to find his house deserted. All the furniture had been removed from the home, and his wife and six-months-old child had disappeared. He made a diligent search for his family, but without result. Finally he learned that his wife and her mother and the child were in California, but years of correspondence with county officials failed to reveal the whereabouts of the missing ones. At last he wrote to an attorney in Yola county, and he informed Mr. Lintz that Mrs. George E. Maxwell of Woodland was the missing daughter. Mr. Lintz wrote to Mrs. Maxwell and the reunion followed.

Mrs. Maxwell says that after her mother and grandmother died she was adopted by a family and a good education was given her. She had been led to believe her father was dead, but was made happy when she received the letter from Mr. Lintz. She will remain with her father a week or more.

TRAGEDY AT ELKHART

Leader of Italian Colony Shot Twice Through Heart.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 18.—Frank Fortino, an Italian, aged forty, was shot through the heart twice by Tony Tino, aged twenty-four, in a quarrel of hazy origin. People heard the shots in Fortino's bottling works, and saw Tino being pursued a short distance by Fortino, who fell dead. Tino is still at large. Fortino had a wife and five children, a mother, three brothers and three sisters, all more or less dependent on him. He was a leader in the Italian colony, which is much excited, and was recently convicted of maintaining a "blind tiger."

Speedway Mechanician Caught.

Indianapolis, Aug. 18.—Clifford Litterall of Dayton, O., a Speedway mechanician, was probably fatally crushed under the wheels of a big racing automobile at Capitol avenue and Vermont street. Litterall stepped from a machine while enroute to the race course and was run over by a car which was following.

The old Union railway station in Chicago will be replaced by a $25,000,000 structure.

FOILED THE SEA

Life-Savers Win Notable Victory On Long Beach.

New York, Aug. 18.—After a six-hours' battle, Long Island life-savers added another victory against the sea to their long list of remarkable rescues when they brought safely to land the captain and crew—seven souls in all—from the three-masted schooner Arlington of Boston, which went ashore in a driving rain and fog off Long Beach on the south shore of Long Island. The eighth member of the crew, Madden Pierson, a Swede, had an even more remarkable rescue. He put off from the schooner on a raft with the hope of reaching shore with a line, was swept out to sea by the tide, but by good fortune was driven ashore exhausted, more than five miles to the south near Rockaway Beach.

INVADERS ADVANCE UPON DOOMED "HUB"

It Is Believed Boston Will Fall Before Night.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—The army of the Red has made a material advance in the war game in which the army of the Red, under Brigadier General Tasker H. Bliss, is striving to defeat the army of the Blue, commanded by Brigadier General William A. Pew, and capture Boston, and unless General Pew of the defenders can concentrate his troops to meet the attack of troops which General Bliss has massed heavily on the Blue's left, General Pew faces defeat.

The two armies are less than a dozen miles apart. From the general direction of the movements of General Bliss and his army and the strength of his command, the plan which he intends to follow to capture Boston is apparently to annihilate General Pew's extreme left and to pass that end with a comparatively clear road to Boston. Unless General Pew can support his Second Brigade infantry, comprising the Fifth, Eighth and Ninth regiments and Battery B, which is the Blue's left wing, by all his cavalry and his artillery and thereby hold the roads until his first brigade can be rushed from the right, he risks defeat.

Over at the extreme left of the Blue line three regiments named are facing practically the entire Red army. General Bliss's southward movement was one of determination on a settled plan, with which every organization was apparently familiar. In addition it was clearly executed and strategic and gave evidence that the Red scouts had fully posted General Bliss on the position of the Blues. In the Red's advance there never was a sign of hesitation when the Blue's outposts were encountered and then either captured or driven in.

How expeditiously and scientifically this was accomplished was best illustrated at Middleboro Green. Here Major Charles H. Cutler of the Blue army, with three skeleton companies of the Eighth infantry, was encountered and rendered non-combatant in quick time, while the Connecticut squad of cavalry engaged the Blue's front. Major Grierson of the Reds, with his three troops of the Tenth United States cavalry (colored) dismounted and, acting as infantry and supported by two machine guns, turned the right flank of the Blues, while at the same moment Major Briedman with the New York cavalry executed the same movement on the left. If it had been actual warfare it is believed that there would not have been a Blue soldier left half an hour after the engagement had begun.

Lajoie Has Had Enough.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 18.—Napoleon Lajoie has tendered his resignation as manager of the Cleveland (American League) baseball team. The losing streak of the team has been bitterly criticised locally.

Telephoning to Stop a Runaway.

Telephones were utilized to good advantage in stopping a runaway on a country road near Waitsburg, in Walla-walla county, Wash., southwest of Spokane, and probably saved Bonny M., a standard trotter with a mark of 2:16, from injury by barbed wire fences. While the driver was exercising it on the city park track a few days ago the horse broke and started to set a new record along the road, heading for the Shell ranch, three miles distant. Instead of following the animal the driver went to the park telephone and advised the owner and other ranchers along the route to watch for a runaway. Several of them responded, and the horse was brought to a standstill before serious damage resulted. The animal is valued at $3,000. This is said to be the first instance in which the telephone was pressed into service in that part of the country for similar use, though stockmen have used the instrument to call out assistance to check cattle stampedes.

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

HOMES FOR THE POOR

Edison's Plan to Provide Cement Houses at $10 Per Month.

THEY WILL NOT ALL BE ALIKE

Different Ornamentation and Wide Variety of Plans From the Same Molds. Cost $1,200 to Build a House For One Family.

"The men in my shop wanted to make a plain panel for the house, one without ornamentation, but I told them we would give the workingman and his family ornamental work for their future homes. They deserve it, and, besides, it costs no more after the pattern is made to give decorative effect than it would to make everything plain."

These words, spoken by Thomas A. Edison a few days ago as he stood on the steps of his laboratory at Orange, N. J., hold out an interesting future for the workingman who is proud of his home. His words revealed not only his real motive in the latest work the great inventor has been undertaking, but they demonstrate the fact that he had attained the success he had been aiming at for the last eight years—to provide for the workingman the chance of possessing a substantial and attractive home for little money.

In recent years Edison has been a philanthropist. For nearly ten years he has been working out various problems for the welfare of his fellow men, but in all that time he has been trying to evolve something that would make the struggle for existence easier and pleasanter for the workingman, and he has accomplished a great thing. Instead of living as he does at present in a dingy tenement or stuffy, unattractive apology for a house, the wage earner will soon be able to live in a miniature palace.

Can Pour a House.

This prospect has been brought about by Mr. Edison's new "poured cement house," which is about to become a factor in twentieth century building construction.

It is Edison's hope to erect for the millions who dwell in tenements highly ornamental, waterproof and vermin proof houses in the suburbs for $1,200 each, and on the proposition that for $10 a month the workingman can live in a detached, sanitary cement house, with a yard for the children to play in, Edison went ahead and perfected his processes. To this work Edison has given his best thought.

Architects and engineers and, in fact, all technical men who have a knowledge of the properties of concrete greeted the first announcement of the Edison poured house two years ago with incredulity and smiles.

Some of the Objections.

The most frequent objection or criticism offered was the apparent impracticability of pouring concrete into an intricate set of molds and securing a surface throughout that would be free from imperfections. "It will clog," "It will not flow," were expressions heard on all sides. Then objections were offered on artistic grounds. "Imagine a city of houses every one of which is like all the others. It is preposterous," was said.

Mr. Edison has answered all these objections to the full satisfaction of the most critical. Here are the important facts about the poured house:

He has produced a mixture of a consistency almost like water which holds the stone or aggregates in suspension, allows the mixture to flow freely to all parts of the molds and secures a uniform distribution of the aggregates throughout the mass. The molds are adapted to variations of arrangement, thus making it possible to change the style of houses with the same set of molds. With five or six sets of molds, therefore, a wide variety of style is possible.

Following is a description of one of Edison's $1,200 poured cement houses for one family, with a floor plan 25 by 30 feet:

It is intended to be built on lots 40 by 60 feet, giving lawn and small garden room. The front porch extends eight feet and the back porch three feet. On the first floor is a large front room, 14 by 23 and nine and one-half feet high, intended as a living room, and a kitchen in the back, 14 by 20 and one and one-half feet high. In the corner of the front room is a wide staircase leading to the second floor.

Plenty of Light and Air.

This contains two large bedrooms, a wide hall and a roomy bathroom. The third floor has two large rooms. Each room has large windows, so there is an abundance of light and fresh air. The cellar, seven feet six inches high, extends under the whole house and will contain the boiler, washtubs and coal bunker. The decorations will be cast with the house and will therefore be a part of the structure.

In preparing the cement for the house the concrete, after being mixed, will be dumped into large tanks, from which it will be conveyed to a distributing tank on the roof or top of the forms. A large number of open troughs or pipes will lead the mixture to various openings in the roofs.

whence it will flow down and fill all parts of the molds to the footings in the basement till it overflows at the tip of the roof. The actual pouring will require about six hours.

The fact has been absolutely demonstrated that a mixture is produced that has all the characteristics of a liquid and fills all interstices and openings.—Cement World.

BALDHEADS' HATLESS CLUB.

Omaha Organization Promoted by a Doctor Finds Immediate Favor.

The newest organization in Omaha, Neb., to clamor for recognition is rapidly becoming the most popular. Its name is the "Hatless club," and only men who are baldheaded can ever hope to become members.

The prime mover and organizer of the Omaha Hatless club is Dr. Z. D. Clark, who published a notice in the city papers a few weeks ago inviting all baldheaded men in Omaha to meet at his office. He expected about twenty-five to respond, but there were more than 200.

Dr. Clark was elected president and W. W. Slaubaugh secretary and treasurer.

It is not to be supposed the Hatless club is organized merely for fun. The members have other motives, the principal one of which is to grow hair on heads where it does not grow now. No patent lotions or medicines are to be used to coax the hair. The sun and air are to do the work.

The rules of the club provide that every member shall go bareheaded or else wear a hat with the crown cut out. He may carry a hat in his hand and tip it to a woman, but he is prohibited from placing it upon his head, no matter what the occasion may be.

Home-Made Harmony.

(Martinsville Republican.)

Harmony, like charity, begins at home.

The Republicans of Indiana appreciate this fact and are growing more and more in a humor to minimize their differences and magnify the things upon which they agree. This augurs well for party success and good government in the future.

Recent facts concerning affairs of both National and State moment have drawn Republicans together and brought them to realize that they have a more profound respect for each other than they appreciated last fall when they were magnifying their differences.

They are coming together for the common good—as friends who are glad to greet each other in a fraternal way once more. They are looking ahead to the time when they can stand together in support of each other and in support of the principles the party stands for. They are counting the days when they can demonstrate to each other that the differences that resulted in the temporary disaster of 1908 were incidental and that loyal support of the party and what it stands for is fundamental.

The best of this is that this effort is being made in the home communities of Indiana. The precincts are experiencing this feeling and will bring about the results. Home-made harmony is the variety that will prevail from now on. It is always the lasting kind. It is the kind that grows, expands, warms the soul and inspires success. It comes from neighbor greeting neighbor as an ally and everlasting friend—sorry they differed and glad to meet again as friends.

Home-made harmony is what is needed in the city elections this fall. It will be there and will tell in the returns.

It will be present in the conventions next year, and will be emblazoned on the banners sent out in the campaigns for counties, districts and the State. It will prevail during the campaign, because the platforms, the public speakers, the precinct workers, the candidates will all proclaim it and promote it.

Be sure to do your share in making harmony unanimous. If you have been out of harmony, forget it and join the throng that are getting together. If you have been in harmony with your party, pray for greater fealty and stronger faith; extend the glad hand and let "everybody help."

BY THE WAYSIDE

Did you ever see anybody laying cement at 12 o'clock at night? You could have seen Frank Vance hard at work at that hour last night at the home of Ralph Payne in North Harrison street. Mr. Payne in remodeling his house had a new porch put in, with floor of cement two inches thick. The porch is large and in placing the cement it all had to be done in one day to prevent a part of it hardening too soon. In order to complete the job Mr. Vance had to work until 12 o'clock last night. It was a bit unusual to see one handling a trowel by light of a lantern.

NEW CASTLE HAS A KICK TO MAKE

Objects Because the New Fast Train on Pennsylvania Does Not Stop There.

ROAD GETS MUCH BUSINESS

Another insult has been piled onto New Castle at the hands of Pennsylvania officials, says the New Castle Courier. The new fast trains between Cincinnati and Chicago have been given orders to stop at all points except New Castle. There is a town ordinance which, in all probability, would bring the Pennsylvania to time if it were enforced. Then again there are certain provisions in the franchise which might do a few things besides stopping the fast trains, if handled in the right manner. If the railroads had derived no benefit in the way of revenue from the prosperity of New Castle, there might be some excuse for the existing conditions. The records will show that in the last two years the Pennsylvania and the L. E. & W. have made more money out of New Castle than out of any other city on the lines, size considered.

CHAPTER XXXIV. THE TITLE CLEAR.

TWO men and a woman stood in the evening glow looking out over the tranquil sea that crept up and licked the foot of the cliff. It was September. Five months had passed since the King's Own steamed away from the harbor of Ararat. The new dispensation was in full effect. During the long, sickening weeks that preceded the coming of the syndicate Hollingsworth Chase toiled faithfully, resolutely, for the restoration of order and system among the demoralized people of Japan.

With the transfer of the company's business his work was finished. Two young men from Sir John's were now settled in Ararat as legal advisers to the islanders, Chase having declined to serve longer in that capacity.

He was now waiting for the steamer which was to take him to Cape Town on his way to England—and home.

The chateau was closed and in the hands of a small army of caretakers. The three widows of Jacob von Blitz were now married to separate and distinct husbands, all of whom retained their places as heads of departments at the chateau, proving that courtship had not been confined to the white people during the closing days of the siege.

The head of the bank was Oscar Arnheimer, Mr. Bowles having been deposed because his methods were even more obsolete than his coat of armor.

Selim disposed of his lawful interest in the corporation to Ben Ali, the new cad, and was waiting to accompany his master to America. It may be well to add that the deal did not include the transfer of Neenah. She was not for sale, said Selim to Ben Ali.

It was of Mr. Bowles that the three persons were talking as they stood in the evening glow.

"Yes, Selim," said the tall man in flannels, "he's a sort of old dog Tray, ever faithful, but not the right kind. You don't happen to know anything of old dog Tray, do you? No? I thought not. Nor you, Neenah? Well, he was."

"Was he the one who was poisoned at the chateau, excellency?" asked Neenah timidly.

"No, my dear," he replied soberly. "If I remember my history, he died in the seventeenth century or thereabouts. It's really of no consequence, however. Any good, faithful dog will serve my purpose. What I want to impress upon you is this—it is most difficult for a faithful old dog to survive a change of masters. It isn't human nature—or dog nature, either. I'm glad that you are convinced, Neenah. But please don't tell Sahib Bowles that he is a dog."

"Oh, no, excellency!" she cried earnestly. "She is very close mouthed, sahib," added Selim, with conviction.

"We'll take Bowles to England with us next week," went on Chase dreamily. "We'll leave Japan to take care of itself."

He lighted a fresh cigarette, tenderly fingering it before applying the match. "I'll smoke one of hers tonight, Selim. See! I keep them apart from the others in this little gold case. I smoke them only when I am thinking. Now, run in. I want to be alone."

They left him, and he threw himself upon the green sod, his back to a tree, his face toward the distant chateau. Hours afterward the faithful Selim came out to tell him that it was bedtime. He found his master still sitting there, looking across the moonlit flat in the direction of a place in the hills where once he had dwelt in marble halls.

"Selim," he said, arising and laying his hand upon his servant's shoulder, his voice unsteady with finality, "I have decided, after all, to go to Paris. We will live there, Selim. Do you understand?" with strange fierceness, a great exultation mastering him. "We are to live in Paris!"

To himself all that night he was saying: "I must see her again! I shall see her!"

A thousand times he had read and reread the letter that Lady Deppingham had written to him just before the ceremony in the cathedral at Thorberg. He knew every word that it contained. He could read it in the dark. She had said that Geneva was going into a hell that no hereafter could surpass in horrors! And that was ages ago, it seemed to him. Geneva had been a wife for nearly three months—the wife of a man she loathed. She was calling in her heart for him to come to her. She was suffering in that unspeakable hell. All this he had come to feel and shudder over in his unspeakable loneliness.

He would go to her. There could be no wrong in loving her, in being near her, in standing by her in those hours of desperation.

A copy of a London newspaper stuffed away in the recesses of his trunk, dated June 29, had come to him by post. It contained the telegraphic details of the brilliant wedding in Thorberg. Every royal family in Europe was represented. The list of noble names seemed endless to him, the flower of the world's aristocracy. How he hated them!

The next morning Selim aroused him from his fitful sleep, bringing the news that a strange vessel had arrived off Ararat. Chase rushed out upon his veranda, overlooking the little harbor.

A long, white, graceful craft was lying in the harbor. He stared long and intently at the trim craft.

"Can I be dreaming?" he muttered, passing his hand over his eyes. "Don't lie to me, Selim! Is it really there?" Then he uttered a loud cry of joy and started off down the slope with the speed of a race horse, shouting in the frenzy of an uncontrollable glee.

It was the Marquis of B's white and blue yacht.

Three weeks later Hollingsworth Chase stepped from the deck of the yacht to the pier in Marseilles. The next day he was in Paris, attended by the bewildered and almost useless Selim. An old and valued friend, a campaigner of the wartime days, met him at the Gare de Lyon in response to a telegram.

"I'll tell you the whole story of Japan, Arch, but not until tomorrow," Chase said to him as they drove toward the Ritz. "I arrived yesterday on the Marquis of B's yacht, the Cricket. Do you know him? Of course you do. Everybody does. The Cricket was cruising down my way and picked me up—Bowles and me. The captain came a bit out of his way to call at Ararat, but he had orders of some sort from the marquis by cable, I fancy, to stop off for me."

He did not regard it as necessary to tell his correspondent friend that the Cricket had sailed from Marseilles with but one port in view—Ararat. He did not tell him that the Cricket had come with a message to him and that he was answering it in person, as it was intended that he should—a message written six weeks before his arrival in France. There were many things that Chase did not explain to Archibald James.

"You're looking fine, Chase, old man. Did you a lot of good out there. You are as brown as that Arab in the taxi-meter back there. By Jove, old man, that Persian girl is rippin'. You say she's his wife? She's"—Chase broke in upon this far from original estimate of the picturesque Neenah.

"I say, Arch, there's something I want to know before I go to the marquis' this evening. I'm due there with my thanks. He lives in the Boulevard St. Germain—I've got the number all right. Is one likely to find the house full of swells? I'm a bit of a savage just now, and I'm correspondingly timid."

His friend stared at him for a moment.

SPAIN-MOROCCO WAR

Cause of the Trouble With Moors at Melilla.

KABYLE TRIBES TO BLAME.

Their Attack on Some Spanish Mines Near Melilla Before the Spaniards Were Ready Precipitated the Crisis. Spain's Foes Are Born Soldiers.

The immediate cause of the trouble at Melilla, Morocco, which has cost Spain so dear, occurred on July 8, when some Moors laid an ambush at the Spanish mines on the railroad near Melilla for the purpose of making some prisoners in order to exchange them for Moors who had recently been arrested for an assault on a policeman. Four of the miners were killed. Thereupon a detachment of the Melilla garrison went out under General Marina and routed the Moors, though not without difficulty, as the bayonet had to be used, and the Spaniards lost twenty-nine killed and wounded.

Spanish Mines Raided.

The remote cause of the Melilla trouble dates back about a year and a half, when two Spanish mining companies, one of them operated with French capital, began work at a point about fifteen miles from Melilla under the protection of Roghi Kaid, who then was supreme in that region. In October of last year the tribes revolted, defeated Roghi and raided the mines, which then ceased work. The Spanish government proceeded to protect them; but, although some of the tribes did not object, others were hostile, and the whole district became much disturbed, so that it was not till last June that the miners were able to resume work.

Under the treaty of 1860 between Morocco and Spain the sultan is under obligation to furnish regular troops for the protection of the Spanish possessions of Ceuta and Melilla against the always more or less unruly Riff tribes. But he has never done this, and when Spain recently sent Minister Merry del Val to Fez to call Mulai Hafid's attention to this fact the sultan not only refused to listen, but insulted the minister. He refused to acknowledge the mining concessions at Melilla and also demanded that the Spaniards withdraw from points where they had posted troops to prevent contraband traffic in arms as a condition prior to any discussion of the matter. Then the Spanish government voted $700,000 for the strengthening of the garrisons of Melilla and Ceuta and no doubt would have soon been much better prepared to deal with a Moorish attack, but the incident above related precipitated a crisis before the Spaniards were ready for it.

Born Soldiers.

The Kabyle tribes, which are of Berber origin, are the people with whom the soldiers of Spain are contending for supremacy on the Riff coast of Morocco. These tribesmen, who are Sunni Moslems, are born soldiers. Those of the plains have been recently engaged in carrying out public works connected with Spain's mining interests on the coast, while those of the mountains by sudden raids have periodically undone the work of their brothers of the plains.

The present revolt is due to the inspiration of the new sultan of Morocco, who recently, it is said, ordered the Spaniards to evacuate the Riff coast. The Kabyles, in carrying on the revolt, are using some Mauser rifles which were sold to them for his personal profit by General Margaolio, governor of Melilla, who recently was killed in a sortie.

Spanish Forts In Ruins.

The Riff coast came into possession of Spain after the Moors had been driven out of Europe in the fifteenth century and were pursued into Africa. To prevent a second Moorish invasion, Spain began at once to fortify this coast, and by the middle of the seventeenth century from Ceuta to Melilla and eastward as far as the Algerian frontier was a strong line of fortifications. Most of the forts are now far advanced in ruin, and all are obsolete. Some had been evacuated even as early as the beginning of the nineteenth century and, with the connivance of successive Spanish governors, became the stronghold of pirates until the latter were swept from the sea by the combined efforts of France, England and the United States.

Be wise to-day, 'tis madness to defer.—Young.

SPAIN'S BEAUTY CITY

Glimpses of Barcelona, Hotbed of the Present Revolution.

DIVIDED INTO TWO SECTIONS

It Has Its Old and New Quarters, an Ancient History and Beautiful Buildings—Spain's Most Important Commercial and Industrial Town.

Barcelona, where the present discontent of the people throughout Spain over the continuation of the fighting against the Moors at Melilla, in Morocco, recently assumed the character of civil war, is the capital of the captain generalcy of Catalonia as well as the most important commercial and industrial town in Spain. It is on an undulating plain on the shore of the Mediterranean, in about the same latitude as Rome. On the southeast rise the Montjuich hills, crowned by fortifications, on the three other sides of the plain stretches a picturesque mountain background. The suburbs are a series of cultivated semitropical gardens, and beyond the plain is dotted with villages and farms and intersected with beautiful streams. Don Quixote described the city as "unique both in beauty and situation," and even in modern days, when the smoke of factory chimneys takes away some of the former picturesqueness, it ranks as one of the most attractive of Mediterranean towns.

Barcelona has a population of 530,000, counting the old and new towns together. The houses of the new town are largely built of heavy stone, which make an imposing appearance, and the streets are laid out very regularly. The busy life of the city centers in the Rambla, a charming promenade which unites the old town with the new and along which are the principal theaters, shops and cafes and where the pretty flower girls display their wares under the shade of the plane trees.

City of Two Parts.

The old city was formerly surrounded by a line of ramparts defended by a citadel on the northeast erected by Philip V., but as these fortifications restricted the development of the town they were abolished by the local authorities in 1845 despite the opposition of the central government. The walls of the moat were turned into cellars, and the ground was laid out in gardens. The city rapidly spread out to the northwest, and in 1860 an elaborate plan was made for laying out new districts. Thus the town is divided into old and new, the old interesting for its irregular, narrow streets and its houses, built in eastern fashion, chiefly of brick, four to five stories in height, with flat roofs.

Old Barcelona forms a hexagon, on the southeast side of which lies the harbor. On the highest point of the town, the Monte Taber, stands the cathedral, one of the finest specimens of Spanish Gothic architecture. It is on a site once occupied by a Roman temple and later by a Moorish mosque. The building of the cathedral was begun in 1298, and the keystone of the vaulting was laid by Andres Escuder in 1448. The scale is not large, but the arrangement and lighting are so fine that the impression of great size is given. To the right and left of the northeast doorway are two inscriptions relating to the building of the church.

Magnificent Sunset Effects.

The interior of the cathedral is very dark, but impressive. The small windows contain the finest fifteenth century stained glass, and the sunset effects upon them are magnificent. One of the most interesting of the chapels is that of Santo Cristó de Lepanto, which contains the "Christ of Lepanto," said to have been carried by Don John of Austria in his flagship at the famous battle of Oct. 6, 1571. The image of the Saviour is said to be bending its head to escape a Turkish bullet.

A number of interesting buildings are grouped near the cathedral. The Canonja (canonry) dates from the fifteenth century, and on the back wall is a mural painting of "The Last Supper." The shoemakers' guild house is an example of sixteenth century renaissance. Not far off stands the palacio episcopal, which dates from 923, though rebuilt since then. It contains some Romanesque remains, and one of its gateways is partly of Roman workmanship.

The City's Mythical Founder.

In the Calle del Paradis behind the cathedral are buried three Corinthian columns fifty feet in height which are probably the remains of the portico of a Roman temple, described by legend as dedicated to Hercules, the mythical founder of Barcelona. The general archive, erected for Charles V., is an interesting Gothic structure containing about 4,000,000 documents, and the Provincial museum, too, is worthy of note.

Barcelona's place in the commercial history of Spain is one of pre-eminence. In the twelfth and thirteenth centuries it was the rival of Venice and Genoa. The merchants of Barcelona could be found trading with all the Mediterranean ports, with the Netherlands and the orient. With the emancipation of the Spanish-American colonies a decline set in, but this proved only temporary, and now its commercial and industrial status is quite assured. The town is sometimes called "the Manchester of Spanish Lancashire," and its cotton, silk and woolen mills are famous. Into its harbor, too, come ships from all the colonies, bringing tremendous cargoes of imports from all parts of the world.

A HAIR DRESSING

That is Guaranteed to Make Women's Hair Lustrous and Beautiful, or Your Money Back.

Women of culture want a perfect hair dressing; one that is delicately scented and that will make the head feel better the minute it is put on. They want a dressing that is not sticky or greasy.

And above all, they want a dressing that will make the hair lustrous and fascinating; that will kill the dandruff germs and banish dandruff, and that will stop falling hair and itching scalp.

Parisian Sage, now sold in America, will do all these things, or money back.

That's the offer F. B. Johnson & Co. makes after investigating the merits of Parisian Sage.

A large bottle only costs 50 cents, and leading druggists everywhere sell it. The girl with the Auburn hair on bottle.

"Parisian Sage rids the scalp and hair of dandruff, makes the growth of hair profuse, and leaves a silky, fluffy, luxuriant appearance. We are glad to endorse the use of Parisian Sage."—John Null, 31 108th Street, Wheeling, W. Va.

Parisian Sage keeps the head cool in summer and drives away disagreeable odors arising from perspiration.

OPERA ON TRAINS.

Rock Island Line Introduces Phonograph Concerts to Capture Traffic.

Grand opera while you travel is the latest scheme from the brain of a passenger man who wants to keep in the fore rank with strong competition chasing him. It has been officially announced at Chicago that the management of the Rock Island railroad has decided to equip all its limited trains with phonographs and has contracted for a dozen machines to be furnished within a few days at an expense of nearly $5,000, including the music.

The company will place one of these talking and singing machines in the observation cars, the experiment having been made out successfully on the "Mountaineer," one of the Rock Island's new Chicago-Denver trains.

The provision of high class music in connection with transcontinental travel is due to the fierce passenger competition between western roads. In the effort to secure the bulk of the travel to the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle the western roads have put on nearly a dozen new trains. The Burlington began to make a bid for the business by furnishing a table d'hôte meal for $1, beginning with a cocktail and ending with a perfect cigar, which actually cost nearly twice that amount.

The St. Paul and other roads followed suit, and the Northern Pacific announced that it had bought chicken farms, potato farms and cows that give milk of the kind that makes cream, and the company also provides eggs stamped with the date of their "birth." The Rock Island got into the game by announcing the provision of women stenographers and a clothes pressing attachment free of charge, and now the game has been reached by adding musical programs.

The phonographs are to be operated by the stenographer, and there are to be two regular concerts daily, matinee and evening. There are to be finely printed programs, together with encore numbers. Only one difficulty is presented, that being lack of space to accommodate the audience. The afternoon concerts are made up of the lighter compositions and of recitations, but the evening performances are to be grand opera, with Caruso, Sembrich, Scotti and other stars at their best.

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Rushville Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Rushville citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Rushville by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Frank Vredenburg, 211 Jackson Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills knowing them to be an excellent remedy for weak kidneys. One of my children was afflicted with a kidney weakness and I was told by a physician that nothing could be done. However, when I read that Doan's Kidney Pills were curing other people of similar troubles, I obtained a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. They soon relieved the trouble and at present time the child is not bothered in the least."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

because of the adverse finding to Bolivia rendered by the Argentine president in the boundary dispute with Peru, and that the new Bolivian government will make every effort to effect a satisfactory settlement.

News of a peaceful conclusion of the negotiations is expected momentarily.

WOULD GO TO FRONT

King Alfonso Anxious to Join His Army in Morocco.

Madrid, Aug. 18.—King Alfonso is taking the keenest interest in the war in Morocco and all of Premier Maura's influence is required to prevent him from going to the front. Neither King Alfonso nor any of the royal household has participated in any entertainments or rejoicing since the war has been in progress, and the social life of Madrid is almost at a standstill.

Waiting For Better Weather.

Hammerfest, Norway, Aug. 18.—According to a dispatch from Walter Wellman's Arctic expedition camp at Spitzbergen, dated Aug. 14, Mr. Wellman made ready to start in search of the North Pole on the 12th. The balloon was inflated and provisioned and the motors were working smoothly.
On the 13th Mr. Wellman decided to get the airship out of the house. The wind, however, again freshened and Mr. Wellman ordered the airship back into the shed to wait for more propitious weather.

Begged Officers to Shoot Him.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 18.—James R.
Neville, fifty-six years old, an active church and Sunday school worker, was arrested here on a charge of improper conduct with his seventeen-year-old stepdaughter, Ethel Davis. The charge was filed by his wife, Mary E. Neville.
On the way to jail Neville begged the officers to shoot him instead of taking him to jail. This is regarded as a remarkable case, and it has created no end of talk in Wayne township, where the principals reside.

Steamer Burned at Port.

Callao, Peru, Aug. 18.—The petroleum fuel of the steamer Monte Blanco caught fire in the harbor here and the steamer was completely destroyed.

REUNIONS WERE ORDER OF THE DAY

professor of History in an Ohio college, gave a short talk which was very interesting.

The Norris family can trace their descendants back to 1680, when Benjamin Norris sailed from England and landed in Norfolk, Mass. And here it was that the Norris family had its origin over two hundred years ago. They have nearly a perfect map tracing from this time down to the present generation. Priscilla and Benjamin Norris migrated from Massachusetts and settled on the banks of the Ohio and it is there that this branch of the Norris family originated. There were eleven children born to this union and now one hundred and ten descendants from this branch are living.

Among those from a distance who were present were: Will Ochiltree and family and Mrs. William Moorehead of Connersville; Mrs. George Franklin Norris of Williamsburg, O.; Herbert Marshall of Auburn, Ind.; and Mrs. Homer Bell of Huntington, W. Va.

A ball game between the Newhouse-Blackledge families and the Norris family was on the program this afternoon. County Clerk Verne Norris was manager of one of the teams and Deputy Treasurer Walter Newhouse was the manager of the other team. They handled the cash and also the indicator. They also officiated as settlers of all disputes. The winner of the game could not be determined and it is thought that it will go down in history as one without a winner and without a score.

The annual reunion of the Krammes family was held today at the home of Lewis Krammes, west of this city. A large number of relatives attended and enjoyed the day.

About fifty from here attended the reunion of the Logan family held at Brookside Park, Indianapolis today.

at the same clip. And in half-mile heats records are never given.

The road races have always proved to be an interesting feature at the fair, and they have been placed on the program this year. Secretary King wishes it to be plainly understood by all those who intend to enter horses in these events, that they must enter horses which have not been trained. They can give them a short work-out each day a month before the beginning of the fair, but any animal which has been in the hands of a trainer is strictly barred.

The small show ring will be converted into a midway and will be lined on either side by high class attractions. This is a new feature of the fair and should prove to be very attractive. The airship will be located in the center of the midway and from there will make the daily flights. The midway was arranged to accommodate the large number of shows which have already signified their intentions of coming here. The grounds manager can not state definitely how many will be seen yet, but it is assured that there will be a goodly number of attractions. More concessions for ground for stands and shows have been sold up to the present time than were ever sold during the whole fair in any previous year.

The directors are making every effort possible to make the fair not only a source of amusement, but also a profitable and instructive event. Everything will be strictly moral and no gambling games or indecent shows will be allowed on the grounds. On the whole, present indications point to the greatest fair in the history of Rush county. The report is currently reported that the single admission price will be 50 cents, but this is wrong and will remain 25 cents. Family tickets are on sale at Hargrove & Mullin's drug store.
